WELCOME

Cinemagic Chief Executive

We are proud to present the 36th Cinemagic International Film and Television Festival for Young People. We look forward to welcoming everyone to enjoy the packed programme of opportunities taking place across Belfast and beyond!

The Festival offers thought-provoking films which are the very best examples of contemporary youth cinema, and we are delighted to secure special previews and premieres for our audiences. I encourage you to join in our exclusive workshops, masterclasses, education events, film juries and creative careers talks and to celebrate emerging talent at the Young Filmmaker Competition Showcase weekend.

Our vibrant programme is inspiring, and it offers a channel to enhance the understanding of the lives of others, both at home and internationally and this is vital in building inclusive communities.

Cinemagic is passionate about nurturing young people through the unifying force of the screen industries and we take pride in showcasing our work globally. Our positive impact is felt across Northern Ireland, the Republic of Ireland, the USA and the Middle East and plans are in place for an exciting year ahead with film projects in new countries that will make a significant difference to the lives of young people through skills development, film exhibition, film production and outreach programmes.

Thank you to our supportive funders, sponsors, patrons, employees, volunteers and board members who are dedicated to the ethos of Cinemagic. I look forward to seeing you at the Festival.

Joan Burney Keatings MBE
Cinemagic Chief Executive

Chair, Cinemagic Belfast

As Chair of Cinemagic, I am honoured to support the incredible work taking place at Cinemagic's International Film and Television Festival for Young People. This outstanding initiative continues to open doors for young people, igniting creativity, building confidence, and offering practical pathways into the screen industry.

Through hands-on workshops, masterclasses, and screenings, the festival empowers participants to develop new skills, explore career opportunities, and express their unique voices. Supporting young people and their education is something I am dedicated to in my role as Chief People and Marketing Officer at Belfast City Airport, striving to help the next generation reach their full potential.

This shared commitment to investing in young people has resulted in a powerful partnership that creates real impact and drives meaningful change.

Together with Cinemagic, we are helping to shape a brighter future through nurturing talent, broadening horizons, and championing inclusivity. I have seen firsthand the positive and lasting impact that Cinemagic has, and it is a great honour to be Chair of Cinemagic for the 36th year of its International Film and Television Festival.

Michelle Hatfield
Chair, Cinemagic Belfast

MESSAGES OF SUPPORT

Lord Mayor of Belfast

We're delighted to be supporting this year's Cinemagic International Film and Television Festival for Young People once again – a much-anticipated highlight of Belfast's cultural calendar. Cinemagic continues to inspire, educate and entertain through its remarkable programme, which celebrates storytelling in all its forms. From movie screenings and masterclasses to industry insights and opportunities for budding film critics, this year's line-up is as diverse as it is dynamic. It offers something for young filmmakers, movie-buffs and film-loving families alike.

This festival plays a vital role in nurturing emerging talent and spotlighting the incredible growth of our local film industry. And it continues to deliver real social impact through initiatives like 'Young Audiences Supporting Foodbanks', which helps to educate and inform young people about their power to support communities in need. We are so proud of our thriving creative industries – and Cinemagic plays an important role in introducing our young people to opportunities in this growing sector. So, it's fitting that this year's festival falls hot on the heels of Studio Ulster, the world's most advanced virtual production facility, opening right here in Belfast – creating so many new opportunities for the talent of tomorrow.

As Lord Mayor, I'm proud that Belfast is home to a festival that so clearly reflects our Belfast Agenda vision of a culturally vibrant, outward-looking city.

I warmly encourage you to explore, enjoy, and be inspired by this year's programme.

Councillor Tracy Kelly
Lord Mayor of Belfast

Minister for Communities

As Communities Minister, I am delighted to support Cinemagic's Film Festival for Young People once again. Cinemagic continues to support our young people, our community and our creative industries through improving access to arts and culture, celebrating home grown filmmakers, and nurturing creativity and the talented young people who will become our creative workforce of tomorrow. Its vision aligns closely with my own priorities in relation to equality of opportunity – helping to ensure that everyone can fully participate in society and reach their potential.

This is crucially important as our local creative industries continue to grow and make their mark on the world stage. We cannot expect to have a world class industry without supporting it at the roots and giving our young people and emerging filmmakers the opportunities they deserve. And for those of us who simply enjoy experiencing film, Cinemagic's programme helps to break down barriers and increase understanding by providing a window into other lives and cultures. Participation in the arts enriches our own lives on so many levels including wellbeing, mental health and inclusion, and organisations like Cinemagic help to make these benefits accessible to everyone, regardless of background or circumstances. I must also take the opportunity here to recognise the achievements of the Young Audiences Supporting Foodbanks initiative, which gives audiences the opportunity to respond to need within their communities, and this year has provided nutritious meals for hundreds of people across Northern Ireland facing difficult circumstances.

I look forward to another exciting programme for 2025 and wish the festival every success.

Gordon Lyons MLA
Minister for Communities

WITH CHRIS LYONS (FANGS FX)

Sat 25 Oct

2.00pm (Exit: 4.00pm)
Accidental Theatre
Ages: 16-25

£20.00

Join Chris Lyons, Fangs FX, for an exclusive talk, demonstration and Q&A about a career in creating specialised character teeth for film, television, theatre and multimedia promotional productions.

Renowned throughout the industry for over 40 years, Chris, who has almost 1000 film credits to his name, has worked with award winning make-up artists to special effects companies who have won BAFTAs and Oscars. The Fangs FX team have created prosthetic teeth for Harry Potter, Star Wars, Indiana Jones, Jurassic World, Skyfall and Game of Thrones, and most recently, 28 Years Later. Fangs FX also frequently helps to transform actors for biopics – notably recreating the teeth of musicians including Elvis, Bob Marley, Freddie Mercury and Amy Winehouse. Chris will discuss the challenges involved and the skills required for the job, from creating custom zombie dentures to screen-accurate smiles to bring characters to life.

DIRECTING FOR TV

WITH HANNAH QUINN

Sat 25 Oct

3.00pm (Exit: 5.00pm)

Peter Froggatt Centre

Ages: 16-25

£20.00

Aspiring directors can join Hannah Quinn for a unique chance to hear about working as a TV Director and find out about the processes involved in filmmaking from independent productions to blockbusters.

In 2014, along with co-founder Tim Fleming, Hannah created Midnight Minnie Films to develop scripts and direct signature narrative projects that reflect the company's darkly elegant tone.

Hannah's work includes three no.1 Netflix shows, Harlan Coben's - The Stranger, Fate - The Winx Saga and Vikings: Valhalla for which she won the Best Drama Director award at the IFTA's 2022. She was nominated for three more IFTA awards: Blood (2018), The Gone (2024) and most recently for The Boy That Never Was (2025). As a former Assistant Director with an immense background and deep experience filmmaking across many styles, Hannah brings cinematic scope to television and an intuitive sense of character to genre storytelling.

DIRECTING & WRITING FOR ANIMATION

WITH DEAN DEBLOIS

Join Dean DeBlois as he guides young people in crafting compelling stories, developing memorable characters, and bringing imaginative worlds to life.

Golden Globe winner and two-time Academy Award nominee Dean DeBlois is best known as the writer, director, and executive producer of the How to Train Your Dragon trilogy, one of the most successful and beloved animated franchises in film history. He most recently wrote and directed the live-action adaptation for Universal, expanding the cinematic world he helped create. Earlier in his career, DeBlois partnered with Chris Sanders to write and direct Disney's Lilo & Stitch after serving as co-head of story on Mulan. Beyond animation, he has developed live-action projects for Disney and Universal and directed numerous acclaimed music films and documentaries.

CASTING FOR FILM & TV

WITH AMY BLAIR
(CARLA STRONGE CASTING)

The workshop will cater for emerging actors with all levels of experience, allowing participants to learn more about the casting process and develop audition technique.

Amy Blair was an actress for 8 years before moving into casting in 2019. Working initially in London, she worked as an assistant, then associate on multiple commercials and feature films as well as casting theatre in her own right. Amy joined the Casting Director's Guild as a probationary member in 2021 and has been working with Carla and the team since 2023. Notable projects as Casting Director include Pickle Storm, The Importance of Being Earnest and The Shape of Things. As Associate, she has recently worked on Dalgliesh, How To Get To Heaven From Belfast and Trespases.

VISUAL EFFECTS

Participants will explore the art and science of visual effects, gaining valuable insight to the creative and technical processes that bring blockbuster movies to life.

Christian Manz is a renowned Production VFX Supervisor with nearly three decades of experience, four BAFTA nominations, and an Academy Award nomination. He began his career at Framestore in 1997 and quickly made his mark in Commercials and TV, earning two VES Awards and an Emmy nomination. Moving into feature films, he contributed to celebrated titles such as the Oscar-winning The Golden Compass and multiple Harry Potter instalments before stepping into Production VFX Supervision with Universal's 47 Ronin and Dracula Untold. Since then, he has led the VFX on major franchises including all three of Warner Bros.' Fantastic Beasts films, and most recently brought his expertise to Universal's ambitious, How to Train Your Dragon (2025).
